Odyssey Aviation Welcomes Shervin Penn as Exuma Station Manager

Nassau, The Bahamas (November 5, 2012) – Odyssey Aviation Exuma, the company's newest full-service FBO, has appointed Shervin Penn to the position of Station Manager.

Shervin is a veteran in the hospitality industry having held numerous management positions at British Colonial Hilton, Nassau and Grand Isle Resort & Spa, Exuma. His areas of expertise include Operations, Customer Service and Event Management. In his new role, Shervin will report to William Holowesko, General Manager of Odyssey Aviation Bahamas working alongside a strong team committed to maintaining Odyssey's world-renowned, reliable general aviation services brand.

"I feel privileged to be working with a company of Odyssey's excellence. I look forward to the new challenges that this will present to me, and to working with the rest of the management team to support Odyssey's growth," Shervin commented.

"We are delighted to welcome Shervin to the team," said Steven Kelly, President of Odyssey Aviation Bahamas. "We are looking forward to continuing the development of general aviation in the Exumas making it an internationally renowned destination for VIP FBO and handling services. Having someone with Shervin's experience and knowledge will help us tremendously in delivering a new perspective and direction to our team and to our clients."

Odyssey Aviation Exuma's new 2,500-square-foot facility, which officially opened February of this year on the southeast side of the field, is the first private terminal at Exuma International. The new facility operates independently from the main terminal with its own customs and immigration clearance area located within the facility. It features a new spacious pilots' lounge, flight planning room, refreshment bar, passenger lounge, private fuel farm and two acres of adjoining apron for aircraft parking. 24 Hour service is available upon request.
